DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-10 are cancelled

Claim Objections

2. Claim 16 and 22 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
- 4. Claims 11-15, 17-21 and 23-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kim et al., "Knowledge Analysis on Process Models", August 2001.

Regarding claims 11-15, 17-21 and 23-25 Kim et al. discloses a method for optimizing a process model, comprising: determining effects of components in a process model on other components (Section 2), the components including actions and results (Section 2); and optimizing the process model based on the effects, by at least one of parallelization of components, elimination of at least one component and introduction of a checked intermediate component (Section 4). Wherein influence of an action on at least one subsequent result is determined (Section 5.2). And the components are distinguished as results and actions based on significance (Section 1 and Section 5.1).

Citation of Pertinent Prior Art

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following patents are cited to further show the state of the art with respect to method, system and computer program for pre-processing:

- a. U.S. Pat. No. 6,292,707 to Hair et al., which discloses integrated design and manufacturing system.
- b. U.S. Pat. No. 6,741,898 to Baumgartner et al., which discloses method of using neutral event file for manufacturing line analysis.
- c. U.S. Pat. No. 6,748,283 to Walacavage et al., which discloses method of using neutral event specification file for manufacturing line analysis.
- d. U.S. Pat. No. 6,871,171 to Agur et al., which discloses system and methods for optimized drug delivery and progression of diseased and normal cells.
